$2 Million Hijack Attempt Climaxes In Hail Of Bullets

Viet War Protester Wounded

Disguised FBI Agents Halt Plot In Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — A 43-year-old objector to the war in Vietnam is under guard in a hospital with bullet wounds in the shoulder and leg inflicted by FBI agents as the climax to an elaborate airliner hijack.

Before it ended in a hail of bullets, the skyjacking covered a time span of 12 hours and a distance of more than 800 miles — from Reno, Nev., to Vancouver, B.C., and back to Seattle.

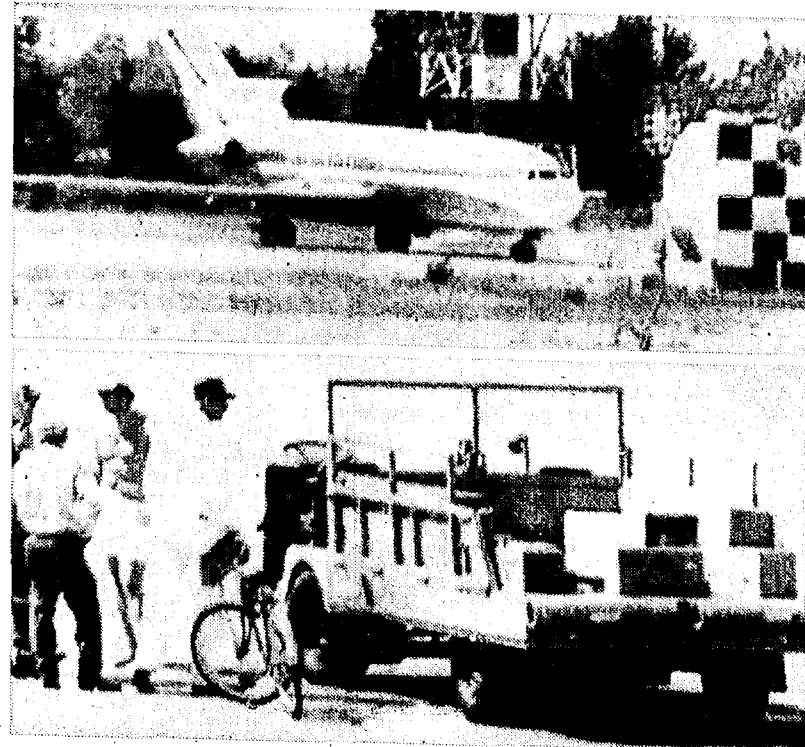

U.S. Attorney Stan Pitkin identified the wounded man as Frank Markoe Sibley of State-line, Nev. Pitkin said Sibley would be charged with air piracy. Sibley's wounds were described as serious but not critical.

The penalty under the law is 20 years to life.

Sibley was shot in the hijacked United Air Line Boeing 727 here late Friday night after his demand for 15 gold bars worth $15,000 had been met in a four-hour stop in Vancouver and $2 million in cash was delivered to him in Seattle.

Two FBI agents who boarded the hijacked plane under the guise of airline employees after the sky pirate insisted on new crewmen and demanded maps of Canada ended the odyssey.

While the agents were fork-lifted aboard the 727 semicircle to prove they were unarmed, other FBI men prodded a gun on a pole into the cabin. With that weapon, the FBI agents

Kissinger Reporting To Nixon

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — President Nixon receives a report from Henry Kissinger tonight on the foreign affairs adviser's quick around-the-world trip, a journey which kindled speculation about possible movement in the Vietnam peace talks.

The White House said Kissinger would fly to the Camp David presidential retreat for the dinner meeting with Nixon and Secretary of State William P. Rogers following his late afternoon return to the United States from the Paris-to-Saigon-to-Tokyo trip.

In Saigon, Nixon's assistant for national security affairs met for six hours with South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu. What they discussed was not disclosed, but their meetings came after Kissinger held another of his secret talks in Paris with North Vietnamese Politburo member Le Duc Tho.

Zollar's Bid For Congress Cost $81,391

Expenditures Listed By Other Candidates

BY BILL RUSH
Staff Writer

State Sen. Charles O. Zollar has filed a campaign expense form for the Aug. 8 primary listing $13,500 in personal expenditures and $67,891.41 by the Zollar for Congress committee — a total of $81,391.41.

Major contributions to the Zollar for Congress committee headed by Treasurer Floyd L. Costerisan of Lansing were: $10,000 by Costerisan; the $13,500 by Zollar; $10,000 from Herman Zollar of Benton Harbor; $5,510 by Clint Raines of Benton Harbor; $5,000 from R.H. Thompson of South Dakota; and $10,000 from David Friday of Hartford.

Zollar was defeated in his campaign to unseat U.S. Sen. Edward Hutchinson for Republican nomination for the Fourth Congressional District seat. Hutchinson filed earlier this week listing $1,149.26 in campaign expenses and $23,659.75 in contributions to two re-election committees. Friday was the final day for filing expenses.

In the race for Republican nomination for sheriff of Berrien county, incumbent Forrest Jewell spent $400. Voters for Jewell spent $4,247.15; People for Jewell, $2,379.66; and the Forrest Jewell Campaign Fund for sheriff, $2,500. The total of the three committees including the $400 by Jewell is $9,126.

Fair Meat Auction Sets Record

Animal Exhibitors Pocket $52,620

BY ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Area businessmen shelled out a whopping $52,620 for 232 of the county's finest meat animals Friday at the Berrien County Youth Fair's annual livestock auction.

The amount paid for the youth exhibitors steers, lambs and hogs was by far the largest ever in the history of the Fair.

Another large turnout of 18,870 Friday brought total attendance for this year's fair to 79,062, approximately 2,500 ahead of last year's record setting pace when 98,597 persons attended the five-day event.

Today is the final day of the Fair and officials are hoping to break the 100,000 mark in attendance.

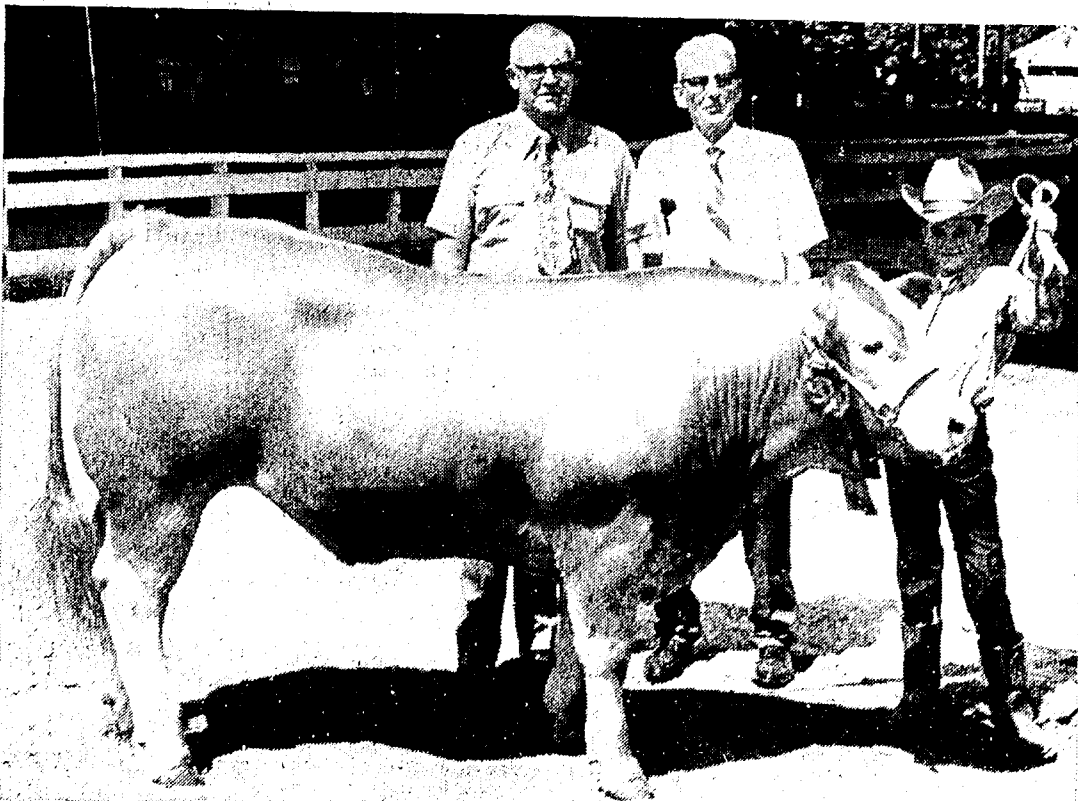

Garden and tractor pulling contests were held this morning, and the pony pulling contest is slated for 2 p.m. Tonight at 6:30 p.m. will be the presentation of exhibitor awards at the main grandstand followed by two performances by James Darren at 7 and 9 p.m. Friday's auction went off without a hitch thanks to the excellent calling of auctioneers Harold Howe of Buchanan and John Glassman of Eau Claire and Clare Musgrove of St. Joseph, master of ceremonies. Also a number of fair workers and exhibitors contributed their time during the all-day affair bringing the animals to and from the block.

Auto Specialties cafeteria purchased the grand champion market steer, a 1,100 pound Charolais-Herford cross exhibited by 11-year-old Bill Foster of Niles. The champ brought $1.30 per pound or $1,430.

The grand champion market hog exhibited by Robert Stoner of Buchanan was purchased by Glen Wade of Mason, owner of the midway rides at the Fair. Wade paid a whopping $3.10 per pound for the 225 pound animal bringing Stoner $697.50.

McGovern Gets Back To Old Politics

When his pass plays fizzle and his line can not spring his running backs, a good quarterback calls for the punter to deliver the football to the opposition in the hope the latter may stutter even worse and yield a favorable field position to his team.

This is a standard deployment going back to the days when Rutgers and Princeton played the first game in 1876 or thereabouts, one which has not been outmoded nor improved upon.

George McGovern is finding his version of the political wishbone formation is not making the headway he thought it would, is calling for the punt.

He captured the Democratic nomination by some hidden ball tricks that outscored several old pros in the game.

As the self proclaimed champion of youth, women's lib and the minorities, he won strategic primary elections on plurality voting. This raised him from last year's national obscurity. He sharpened the image by taking a dive in other states which strongly favored his opponents.

This shrewd contrasting of the high profile in one place and a low one elsewhere won him the nomination.

Since the lighting in the election campaign is several million candlepower greater than that in the convention halls, the successful nominees have to re-assess their strategy for the playoff.

This week McGovern has confirmed what most of the stalwarts in both major parties had been saying right along. The razzle dazzle by which he won the Democratic nomination may not work in another field.

The opinion polls indicated his hold on youth is fragile at best.

Somebody has convinced him that Gloria Steinem's version of women's lib turns off most women.

The blacks are with him simply because they have been in the Democratic fold since FDR's first sweep in '32.

The Eagleton affair threatens to remain as a major handicap. It has disillusioned many who yearn for pure politics, ephemeral as may be that hope, and raises doubt over Sargent Shriver, the substitute Veep candidate, projecting the charisma which the Missouri Senator has.

The improving business climate is taking the steam from one issue which all the Democratic hopefuls had been trumpeting since the nominating campaigns opened.

With nearly all of his formations failing to strike fire with the public, McGovern is opting for the punt.

He is trying to re-ignite the Viet Nam war by sending Ramsey Clark to Hanoi and Shriver to the Hanoi delegates at the Paris peace talks.

Clark returned with a brainwashed presentation on the bombing of the North Vietnamese dikes and Shriver apparently proposes to negotiate a peace of sorts. Additionally, Shriver delivered a phony blast earlier in the week to the effect that Nixon misread a so called peace feeler put out by Hanoi during the closing days of LBJ's Administration.

McGovern is putting his own touch to the charade by refusing to accept a White House briefing on the war and the status of the Paris negotiations. In rejecting the offer, he all but called Nixon a liar.

Playing ducks and drakes with America's foreign policy and military efforts is a dangerous business and for a man in McGovern's position, something beyond all ethical bounds.

Nixon was sorely tempted to do the same thing four years ago, but he refrained from that tempting political gambit and in so doing came close to losing to Humphrey who at the 11th hour did that very thing by repudiating LBJ's stance.

McGovern is desperate. He's not the shining knight that his delegates tried to paint.

He's just another politico trying to get something going, whatever its effect may be.

His choice of motive power is umpteen degrees below the old standby of "my opponent has a woman on the side," because U.S. security is at stake.

The public isn't buying his first offerings and hopefully will block this punt he is trying to sail downfield.

A Bunch

What do the terms nye, bevy, exaltation, cast and charm have in common? The "Maryland Conservationist," a publication of the Department of Natural Resources, reminds us that each is the proper designation for a group of wildlife.

If a hunter in the field began to talk of a nye of pheasants, an exaltation of larks or a charm of goldfinches, chances are his companions would send him back to camp to sober up. The terms, of hazy origin, can be confusing.

Geese in general are referred to as a plump. When in flight they become a skein. When they land, they are a gaggle. Similar absurdities abound.

A falcon, for instance, is a falcon only if it is a female. The male is a tiercel and the young is a passenger. These things are being merely mentioned, not necessarily condoned.

Indeed, it takes a combination lexicographer-conservationist to know the difference, or to care. For the rest of us, more than a couple of anything is a bunch.

That may not be correct, but it is descriptive and a lot easier to remember.

YOUTH FAIR GATE SETS NEW RECORDS

The biggest single-day crowd in the history of the Berrien County Youth fair, 18,110 persons, pushed through the turnstiles on the closing day.

The throng was big enough to push the 1962 gate figure to a new record of 68,342 for the five-day fair. It was a narrow 563 persons over the old record set last year. Perfect weather throughout the 17th annual showing and the drawing power of Dion, the teenage singing star who headlined the stage shows, was credited by fair officials with helping establish the new mark.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Foundation Focuses On Tax Problems

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — There is hardly a family in America that doesn't discuss—if that is the proper word—taxes, often with awe or vee or indignation. Taxes are negative. Taxes take away. Taxes are wasted.

The subject of taxes also is tiring because, as most families have learned, there isn't much you can do about them but pay, and that is a very unsatisfactory catharsis for strong emotions.

Eventually, therefore, most such discussions are terminated for the sake of the family's well-being. But if you worked for the Tax Foundation, Inc. you couldn't permit yourself the luxury of trying to forget. You remember.

At the foundation you think about taxes constantly rather than sporadically. It's your job, but your outlook, judging from the tone of the foundation's reports, isn't any different. Taxes are too high. Money is wasted.

The real difference is that the foundation does something about it. They write about taxes, thousands upon thousands of words about them. And the effect? Well, taxes are rising.

The foundation was formed in 1937 as a private, nonprofit organization "to engage in research and public education on the fiscal and management aspects of government. Among its trustees now are some of the biggest names in American industry.

The motto of the foundation is "toward better government through citizen understanding," but since it is the citizens who permit themselves to be taxed, one wonders if it is achieving its basic goal.

In a recent issue of its "Monthly Tax Features" are some typically horrifying examples of how spending grows, how taxes rise, how money is wasted, how legislators raise their pay, how federal benefits soar.

"Gov't. Payroll Cost Up 460 Per Cent From '53-'71" declares one headline. Expanding, the story relates that: "While fulltime state and local government employees have about doubled from 4 to 8 million over the 1953-1971 period, monthly payrolls for them have skyrocketed from $1.2 million to $6 million, or by 400 per cent."

It observes that "fulltime workers' pay averaged $730 per month in 1971, $33 more than in 1970," failing to remind readers that in terms of constant dollars—minus inflation—that $33 raise is less than a cost-of-living increase.

Another story, typically well-researched and detailed, relates how "federal government benefits going to 50 million or 60 million Americans in fiscal 1973 through 'income security programs' will reach an estimated $102 billion ..."

Such cash outlays, for care of the aged, retired, disabled, sick, jobless and poor, it noted, will make up about 40 per cent of the federal budget.

Regarding legislators, who it implies can do something about taxes by resisting bigger paychecks and fringe benefits, it comments:

"In 19 years between 1947 and 1966 salaries of New York State legislators rose by 500 per cent. They now get $20,000—almost 10 times what they got in 1947."

'SHOCKED' BY EDITORIAL

I fear that I am just a sound in the wind but I cry for those whose cry cannot be heard: for babies yet unborn, who face a savage world. I cry for babies whose very mothers would kill them, with the help of doctors and politicians who care nothing for the lives of helpless babies.

We were shocked to read your editorial suggesting that abortion might be an answer to rising welfare costs. Since when is murdering a baby (call it fetus if you will) the answer to anything? We would expect this from those who have no conscience but surely not from one who is a thought-leader in the community. If it is right to kill a baby before birth why not after? And why not kill the old as well? That would save even more money.

As for those who suggest "abortion" rather than morality to prevent unwanted children let me suggest something else. Sterilization. We sterilize dogs and other animals. Why not people who act as animals? Far better to prevent a life from beginning than to murder it after it has begun. Someday someone will have to answer unto God for murdering unborn babies.

President's Job:

'Make A Judgment'

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The late John F. Kennedy habitually used the phrase "make a judgment" when declaring his intent to decide something. Using it was purposeful. He believed judgment was the core quality required of a president. The evidence, then and now, is that voters do, too.

Capacity for judgment is what millions of them will be trying to measure as they look on the next few months at President Nixon and Sen. George McGovern.

If, in this untrusting age, voters can still repose any trust at all in their seekers after high office, the gauge on judgment capacity must be deeply involved.

Certainly Nixon or any other incumbent is bound to be measured by many against the promises he made as a candidate. In this instance, voters may ask: Did he end the Vietnam war, cut crime, fix the welfare mess, help the economy?

But the holder of the office is not tested just by a simple score sheet on his promises. He faces countless problems he could not foresee as a mere candidate. He decides to do many things he either didn't foresee or didn't talk about in his campaign.

So, a huge number of voters measure performance on a wider scale. The questions for them are not only whether he honored his promises but how he did it, whether he seemed to be acting wisely if he chose not to, how he met the unforeseen difficulties, whether he acted sensibly and responsibly when he undertook things he hadn't talked about.

In Nixon's case, his visits to Peking and Moscow are perfect examples of presidential action not telegraphed beforehand.

These moves, plus his arms limitation agreements with the Soviet Union and his balanced caution in treating the explosive Middle East situation, will be gauged along with his handling of the Vietnam war.

Will it be fatal to Nixon in 1972 if his winding down of the war is something less than total by election time? Perhaps not.

Many people may feel that taking out more than 500,000 troops of a total peak force of 545,000 is a plausible effort. Some may blame the adversary for the incompleteness of the effort.

In the larger scope, as suggested, voters will be viewing Nixon's Vietnam actions in a mix with those on Peking, Moscow, the Middle East, the arms limitation talks.

Again, all the matters here mentioned have to do with measuring his judgment as a practicing president—not just in the realm of his promises but across the whole spectrum of his job. The central thing is how wisely and plausibly he acted whenever he acted.

Liberals Fleeing The Sinking Ship

Many long-time Democrats who contributed heavily to the Muskie and Humphrey campaigns are now reported to be heading for the door where George McGovern is concerned. Even more remarkably, sharp criticism of Sen. McGovern is being voiced by liberal journals and journalists who might have been expected to back McGovern all the way.

Sensing the spread of this malaise, John Kenneth Galbraith made a heroic effort on McGovern's behalf in an article in the Saturday Review last month called "The Case for McGovern."

"For months," concedes Galbraith, "friends have kept calling me to say what a mistake it was for McGovern to spell out his position. . . in such unnecessary detail." But this specificity, replies Galbraith, is evidence of McGovern's honesty: "Only an honest and serious man bothers to tell you exactly what he hopes to do." Yet even Galbraith cannot bring himself to the defense of McGovern's "fiscal policies that nearly everyone agrees are ghastly."

Galbraith's suave evasions aren't good enough for Tom Wicker over at the New York Times, however. Initially a fervent apologist for the McGovern economic program, Wicker finally did the arithmetic and concluded (June 22) that the whole thing "was either extremely careless or deceptive." Going to the heart of the matter, Wicker even questioned McGovern's credibility as a candidate:

"Mr. McGovern cannot at one and the same time proclaim his intention to restore the 'credibility' of the Presidency and . . . pretend that his program for income redistribution was just a casual idea to which he was never really committed. The fact is that it was only when analysts began to show the economic holes in the program that McGovern started backing away from it."

The New Republic, as everyone knows, is a consistently liberal journal, but McGovernomics was too much for Melville Ulmer in the June 24 issue. He concludes that the McGovern proposals are "notable neither for logical consistency nor irresistible political appeal," and, citing the Brookings Institution's recent budget study, he points out that "a substantial increase in tax rates over the next two years will be required even if no new Federal programs are undertaken. . . . The net yield of (McGovern's) tax reforms and the cut in military spending would be, at most, $45 billion. Estimated new program costs loomed in education, water pollution control, day care centers, public works, and national health insurance, in legislation that McGovern has supported, would come to about twice that amount."

Here Mr. Ulmer is being kind to McGovern: most analysts would say three times that amount. Thus time assesses the cost of the new McGovern programs at $165 billion (June 26).

They Shall Not Pass
Sylvia Porter, the economic columnist for this newspaper, concedes that McGovern's proposals could "frighten business and the stock market into a disastrous slump," but comforts her readers with the reflection that Congress would never pass them.

St. Joe Man Seeks U-M Regent Post

Student Is Chairman
Of U-M GOP Club

Bradley J. Taylor, 20-year-old University of Michigan student from St. Joseph, announced today he is a Republican candidate for the U-M board of regents.

The state Republican convention will select two nominees for regencies Sept. 1 and 2 in Detroit. Incumbent Lawrence Lindemer is regarded as a shoo-in for renomination. Taylor is one of three candidates for the other post.

Taylor is chairman of the U-M Republican club and a former student government councilman.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Taylor, 2123 Derfla drive, candidate Taylor is a junior at U-M majoring in economics. He says he's now a part time student to comply with an attorney general's ruling that candidates for the board of regents cannot be full time students or employees of the university.

Taylor said his age is no barrier to candidacy. An attorney general's ruling last May said 18-20 year olds are eligible to hold office for which there is no specific age requirement. There is none for university regent.

He expressed displeasure with the Democratic controlled board of regents and the university administration.

"Academic quality has suffered at the U-M. Grades are handed out by lottery in some classes and persons are admitted to the university by quotas not qualifications. This is a travesty," he said.

"The taxpayers can count on action from me if I am elected because I will be a full time regent, not one who comes into Ann Arbor once a month and receives all his information from the Democrat-oriented administration of the university. I have fought these people constantly for the past two years. I know what is going on. Plenty is going on in Ann Arbor that needs the attention of a full time regent. I will provide it."

Paper Ballots For BH Millage Vote

'X' Will Mark The Spot Monday

Many Benton Harbor school district residents will ballot in a "new way" Monday when they vote on 3.5 mills in operating taxes.

Paper ballots will be used throughout the district because nearness to the primary election did not permit clearance of voting machines.

A lot of voters have known only levers on a machine as the method of casting their ballots. A paper ballot requires placing an "X" in the square of the voter's choice.

Polls will be open Monday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at 27 precincts in the district.

The 3.5 mill tax would run for three years. It would raise $600,000 for 1972-73 operations.

The board of education has announced that defeat of the millage means the budget for the regular school program will be cut by $600,000. The millage has no effect on special compensatory programs funded by state and federal funds.

Cuts of $282,000 were made previously in the tentative budget for 1972-73 with most of the reduction coming out of maintenance. A cut of $600,000 would go into virtually every phase of operation including the classroom.

Salaries constitute 80 to 85 per cent of the budget and failure of the millage means fewer school employees including teachers, the board has announced.

The board has left 34 teaching vacancies unfilled, pending the outcome of the millage election.

The district's budget is pegged at $11,114,000 with state aid representing $4,159,000; allocated tax millage $1,435,000; extra voted millage (including the 3.5 mills) $4,259,000; and $1,114,000 from other sources such as special education, transportation and delinquent taxes.

Approval of the millage would boost the district's operating tax levy to 33.225 mills. Only a fraction of a mill is levied for the district's minute bonded indebtedness.

The 3.5 mills would raise the property tax $35 on a home with a state equalized valuation of $10,000.

The millage was defeated

June 12 when it was on the ballot with a $25 million bond issued that got clobbered.

All registered voters in the district are eligible to ballot. Polling places are:

Calvin Britain school, senior high, Benton Harbor junior high, St. John's school (Lake Michigan Catholic), Columbus school, Benton Harbor city hall, Seely McCord, Sterne Brunson, Naval Armory, Morton school, Fairplain East, Fairplain Northeast, Fairplain West, Fairplain Northwest, Bard, Boynton, Sodus school, Hull school, Johnson school, Lafayette, Millburg school, North Shore school, Pearl school, Sorter, Spinks Corners school, Stump and Martindale.

BH Home Damaged By Blaze

Fire Friday night caused extensive damage to a two-story home, occupied by Patsy Hartz at 602 Pistone street, Benton Harbor.

Benton Harbor firemen, called at 8:59 p.m., said the blaze apparently started in a rear ground floor bedroom. Cause of the fire is not yet known, firemen said.

The fire damaged the bedroom and a nearby kitchen. Flames spread upward, causing some damage to a second floor bathroom, firemen said. Considerable heat and smoke damage occurred throughout the house.

Firemen said Mrs. Hartz told them she left home about 11 a.m. and locked all the doors. Firemen said the front door was ajar, and appeared to have been forced. The home has been burglarized two or three times in the past, it was reported.

Firemen said Fire Marshall

John Billups will investigate further.

Benton Harbor firemen at 4:34 a.m. today, were called to the Red Rooster coffee shop 213 East Main street, where a small grill was reported blazing. Firemen, who entered by breaking a door glass, said the blaze appeared to have started from defective wiring of the electric grill. The blaze was put out by an extinguisher, and smoke ejectors were used.

Damage was reported minor.

Benton Harbor firemen said a frame two-story unoccupied house was destroyed by fire early this morning, at 3770 Watson road. Officers said the blaze is believed to have been incendiary in nature, and will be investigated by the state fire marshal. The house is owned by Russell Tidey, Hillandale road, about a mile from the burned structure in Sodus township.

The Appellate Defender's office in Detroit was established in 1970 by under the federal Safe Streets act. It is the only office of its kind in the nation and has a staff of eight attorneys, 18 legal researchers and nine office personnel. Schwartz currently is assisting the chief deputy appellate defender. When Schwartz formally is admitted to the bar, he will direct a number of legal researchers assigned to assist with his case load.

Results Of Intensified Weekend Patrol 'Gratifying'

Berrien, Cass Traffic Citations Up 50%

BY STEVE McQUOWN

PAW PAW — Intensified weekend road patrols by state police in Berrien and Cass counties have produced a 50 per cent hike in traffic citations in the state police fifth district, the district's commander said.

Capt. Robert Vesey analyzed the first two weekends of the increased patrols being financed in six Michigan counties by a $300,000 grant from the U.S. Dept. of Transportation.

Vesey described the initial results as gratifying and said that hopefully the presence of more road patrols will bring diminishing fatal accident rate and discourage drinking drivers from getting behind the wheel.

The weekend patrols in Berrien and Cass counties were initiated two weekends ago.

Berrien and Cass were designated for the beefed-up patrols because of high traffic fatality rates — 34 in Berrien and 28 in Cass to date. The Cass total is identical to the number of traffic deaths there for all of 1971.

The extra patrols have issued 425 tickets on the past two weekends.

In the first weekend, the 34 additional patrols assigned to the two counties issued 226 traffic citations.

Normally, Vesey said, there are about 400 citations issued by troopers in the entire district over a weekend.

The fifth district is made up of posts at Benton Harbor, Niles, New Buffalo, White Pigeon, Wayland, South Haven and Paw Paw.

Also during the first weekend, the added patrols made 50 other patrol arrests, three arrests resulting from complaints, issued 264 verbal warnings to motorists, arrested seven motorists for driving under the influence of intoxicants and traveled 6,105 miles.

During the same period, troopers on regular assignment to the coverage in the two counties arrested eight for driving under the influence of intoxicants and one person for driving under the influence of narcotics.

Last weekend, Vesey said, there were 41 added patrols in the two county counties which traveled 6,730 miles, issued 199 traffic citations, and gave 285 verbal warnings.

Three persons were arrested for drunk driving and one for driving with a suspended or revoked license.

The special crews also made five other patrol arrests and one arrest as a result of a complaint.

The program of intensified patrols is a pilot project being tried in Texas and Michigan.

The $300,000 allocated to Michigan will be used for state police extra patrol salaries in Eaton, Hillsdale, St. Clair and Tuscola counties besides Berrien and Cass counties.

Fifty troopers make up the extra patrols in the selected counties, and 18 of the troopers patrol Berrien and Cass counties, with 12 of the extra troopers in Berrien county.

A patrol means a working day for each of the officers assigned. Eighteen troopers in cars on one day constitute 18 patrols.

The weekend patrols on Friday, Saturday and Sunday will continue the rest of the year.

CANAMER GAMES FLAME LIGHTED: Diane Heron of Brant County, Ontario, Canada, had the honor of lighting the Olympian flame Friday night at St. Joseph's Dickinson Stadium. The lighting ceremony kicked off the fourth annual CanAmer Olympian Games. In the photo on the left Diane carries the torch in front of the crowd seated in the grandstands. In the center photo she climbs a stepladder in order to

Petition Drive To Be Held

COLOMA — A petition drive to place two millage proposals on the November ballot was announced following a meeting last night between Coloma city and township officials and members of Coloma Boys Baseball association.

Terry Ridge, association president, said one proposition will be for eight-tenths of a mill for one year to finance purchase of a site in the township. The second one will be for two-tenths of a mill for three years to operate the program and maintain the ball park.

Mayor Glenn Randall and Supervisor Roger Carter have expressed support for the petition drive. They told Ridge that petitions must be circulated in both the city and township, and must be filed prior to Sept. 19.

Ridge said the association would begin petition drives soon to obtain the necessary signatures.

According to Ridge, more than 300 boys are participating in Little League, Peanut League and Babe Ruth League programs this summer. He said games are being played on school property, but that the diamonds are becoming increasingly congested.

Canvassers Make Aug. 8 Vote Official

Final figures compiled by the Berrien county board of canvassers for the Aug. 8 primary reveal no significant changes from unofficial vote counts made by this newspaper election night.

Bill Joseph who picked up 89 write-in votes in the District 3 (parts of Benton Harbor and Benton township) has been certified to run as Democratic nominee for county commissioner on the November ballot.

Mrs. Zelma Fellner was also certified with 79 write-in votes for the Republican nomination for supervisor in Sedus township.

Sticker campaigns by Richard Garlanger for Republican nomination for county commissioner in District 4 (most of Benton Harbor), and Jesse Howard for supervisor in New Buffalo township were not certified for lack of 15 per cent of the largest vote office in their district.

Members of the board include: William F. Jones, chairman; Carol Stockman; Richard Tynes; and Doris Evans.

Seminars Planned For Members Of Berrien Bar Assn.

A series of educational meetings has been outlined for members of the Berrien County Bar association during the fall and winter months by the new officers of the organization.

The new officers, seated in July, are headed by Atty. Theodore E. Troff of Benton Harbor, president. The others are: Donald P. Stone, Niles, vice president; Richard Helmrich, ICB Bank trust department, secretary, and Elden W. Butzbaugh, St. Joseph, treasurer.

Two seminars are planned by the association late this fall and early winter.

One seminar, chaired by Sam Henderson, Benton Harbor, will deal with the new code of professional responsibility adopted by the Michigan Supreme Court.

The second seminar, chaired by Pat Kinney, St. Joseph, will discuss practicing attorneys' income tax problems.

In addition, the Bar association plans evening meetings covering simplified probate procedures proposed by new Michigan Supreme Court probate rules; and various proposals of no-fault insurance, including the one proposed by the Michigan Bar Association.
